

Milan Trend Report

Unlocking innovation: trends and insights from Salone Del Mobile 2025

Each year, Salone del Mobile energises and inspires the design world — and 2025 was no exception. With thousands of products on display, it can be hard to know what really matters for commercial interiors.

That's where we come in.

The Inside Out team literally hit the ground running in Milan — visiting hundreds of stands from our trusted partners to find the pieces and ideas that are not only on-trend, but truly useful for hospitality, corporate, and commercial spaces.

This year, comfort was king. The focus was not just on how things looked — but how they felt and performed. As with each year, but even more so this year, we were treated to a real celebration of craft and technique. It was a joy to learn all about the hidden details that set products apart, from seamless joinery to smart construction methods.

Sustainability was a clear theme again, not as a trend but as constantly evolving way of thinking and applying practical design solutions — think modular seating with replaceable components to extend product life.

This report brings together these highlights and many more: the most relevant trends, materials, and innovations from the show, curated to inspire your next project.

We can't wait to hear what you think.

Mocha mousse and chocolate tones take centre stage as the defining shades of the year 2025. These rich hues, inspired by the deep tones of cocoa and creaminess of coffee, create an inviting ambiance that balances luxury with comfort. These colours offer a timeless yet contemporary appeal, making them a favourite in both classic and modern design aesthetics.
